Dr. Teytelbaum also provides nutritional supplements, intravenous therapies and certain lab tests which may not be covered or reimbursed by insurance companies.

*We do not refund opened purchased supplements or products. If the supplement or product has been unopened, we will grant a credit to the patient's account - we charge a 20% restocking fee.

PPO OUT-OF-NETWORK INSURANCE If you have a PPO Insurance, you are out-of-network with our office. We can still provide you a HCFA form (Health Insurance Claim Form), which you can submit to your insurance. Please make sure to ask for this form.

We cannot negotiate with a patient's carrier on their behalf. If you are unsure of your insurance benefits, or have questions regarding reimbursement, please contact your insurance company directly, as the information can often only be communicated to you, the patient. Please note that your insurance policy is an agreement between you and your carrier. We are not part of a contract with your insurance company and therefore cannot guarantee any level of insurance reimbursement. If a patient's insurance carrier refuses payment, for any reason, the patient remains responsible for the charges. Dr. Renata Teytelbaum MD, PA withdraws itself from involvement in out-of-network insurance disputes, but will provide the patient, or their insurance company, with any information that we are capable and able to release.

Dr. Teytelbaum opted out of Medicare, meaning that Medicare doesn't provide coverage for her services. However she can refer and prescribe tests that are covered by Medicare.

LABS/ SPECIALTY LABS

Dr. Teytelbaum's office works with various labs (e.g., Great Plains, Quest Diagnostics, Lab Corp, BayCare, RTL, Precision Point, Doctors Data, Genova, etc). This list is not exhaustive and evolves over time. The majority of the aforementioned labs can submit to the patient's insurance for any blood work/tests done through our office. Additionally, when the patient's insurance does not cover the full amount billed, the patient is responsible for any unpaid amounts to the labs (i.e., co-payments, co-insurance and/or deductibles). These matters need to be taken up directly with the specific lab used for the patient's testing. Dr. Teytelbaum cannot be held responsible for any open balances related to payments that the patient's insurance refused to make for these labs.

TELEPHONE AND PHYSICIAN CONTACT PROTOCOL

If a patient has a reaction to a medication, the best course of action is to stop taking the medication and schedule a follow-up visit. In most cases, Dr. Teytelbaum is not able to communicate with patients outside of scheduled office visits – as she needs to be able to focus on her patients of the day. However, patients are always welcome to leave a message with Dr. Teytelbaum's assistant team via email or voicemail .

Questions that require a medical decision cannot be answered via e-mail; they require an office visit or phone consultation.

Consultations may take place over the phone – especially follow-ups, but generally not initial consultations (except when justified).

Phone and/or virtual telemedicine consultations will be billed like regular office visits.

RESCHEDULING & CANCELLATION

To better serve all patients, our office abides by the following Cancellation Policy:

All cancellations (including in-person patient visits, virtual visits, telephone visits and IV infusions) without 48 hour prior notification will be charged $100.
